Early Career

I started my career as physicist in the field of Scientific Aerospace research. I got a PhD at French Scientific Center and University. I worked for more than 15 years as Researcher and Project Manager for the CNES (French National Space Agency) and Air Liquide, a group leader in Gases.

Career change

Besides my job, I became volunteer at le Potager du Roi. It is the former royal vegetable garden of Versailles Palace built during the reign of King Louis XIV. From that moment, I knew that I wanted to work in the field of garden design. In order to keep contact with the field and the soil, I not only studied gardens design but also how to build and maintain them by myself. I worked as landscape worker at Horticulture & Jardins, a famous garden design Company and I became supervisor one year after. The owner is the famous french Landscaper Pierre-Alexandre Risser. I design and maintain many Urban gardens and terraces in Paris. I had the responsibility of more than 200 customers (business, hotel, and individuals).

Nomadic gardens in Asia

In 2019, I moved to India with my family. I designed gardens using tropical plants for private customers. I also collaborated with Say Trees, a NGO that uses a Japanese method to plants forests all over India. Then I moved to Shanghai in September 2021. Through these experiences, I gained knowledge of plants and gardens design across various climates. I also founded the website www.creer-un-jardin-en-ville.com to teach how to build and maintain sustainable gardens in urban environments.
